

“Celebrate The Difference”

As performed by Terri Hendrix on the CD: Celebrate The Difference

Verse #1:     A camel is a mammal with a hump on its back
                  A duck has a bill that goes quackity quack
                  You’ve got to laugh at the neck of the giraffe
                  And celebrate the difference

Verse #2:     Pigs are big and mice are tiny
                  Snails are slow and fireflies are shiny
                  You’ve got to smile at the crocodile
                  And celebrate the difference

Chorus #1:   Celebrate the difference when you take it all in
                  There’s more to meet the eye than the color of the skin
                  From the smell of the skunk
                  To an elephant’s trunk
                  Celebrate the difference

Verse #3:     A tadpole turns into a frog
                  A puppy turns into a dog
                  A lion roars, an earthworm wiggles
                  A kitten purrs and a hyena giggles

Verse #4: A rabbits ears go flippity flop
A pony's hooves go clippity clop
Flippity flop, clippity clop
Celebrate the difference

Chorus #2: Celebrate the difference when you take it all in
There's more to meet the eye than the color of the skin
From the monkeys in the trees
To the bumble bees
Celebrate the difference

Chorus #3: Celebrate the difference when you take it all in
There's more to meet the eye than the color of the skin
Come big and small
Celebrate them all
Celebrate the difference
You've got to celebrate the difference
(Animal sounds...)
Celebrate the difference!
